President's Notes

So starts another new year; the trees are coming down and we are settling in for a great cold winter. What so strange about that? Let me tell you the possibility that we will be spending more time in front of our tanks is increased by 150%. I for one look forward to watching some of my young cichlids begin their adult lives and begin to spawn. The nice thing about the fish room is that the temperature in there is about where I like it, nice and warm.

CAOAC is getting ready to begin judging some of the awards. The executive as a group will be making all the decisions this year with out a person chairing the committee. I know that I will be getting some hands on knowledge of the awards program as well as how much work Wayne had been doing over the last decade. However with change comes new challenges and with new challenges come new rewards. Any one interested in learning more about awards please get in touch with myself or any of the executive.

Miecia has been very patient with some clubs who have been procrastinating on getting their membership dues and insurance in. CAOAC is charged a surcharge each time we need to make a change to the policy. Every year we have a few stragglers and unfortunately there are some things that cannot be delayed for ever. If you haven't gotten in your payment in yet you will likely be required to pay the surcharge. Try and make a note of getting it done early next year.

Our next meeting in January will be an opportunity for the librarians of CAOAC clubs to get some deals on books for their libraries. There is a standing offer for all book sellers to bring a few of their books in to give all CAOAC Libraries a "DEAL" on some books they might like. Clubs from out of the area are welcome to send in an e-mail to request a specific book. Please keep in mind that this offer is only available to CAOAC representatives and Librarians.

Be Good and Play Safe
